ŽITAVA VINEYARDS

Village: Úľany nad Žitavou/Černík

Many wine fans think of the Nitra wine region as a producer of simple wines. The times are changing however and recently a small and non-traditional wine-maker from a picturesque village Úľany nad Žitavou burst onto the scene. We are referring to the Žitavské vinice (Žitava vineyards) winery and their exceptional wines reflecting the region's terroir. The winery's "weapon of choice" is the production of naturally sweet wines, which belong among the best. During the past two years the winery has also been increasingly focusing on a limited production of dry wines, which excel with their noblesse and longevity. To open a bottle of wine from the Žitavské vinice is not only a perfect complement to your food but also a symphony for your senses.

CHÂTEAU BELÁ

Village: Mužla

Although the Château Belá winery and the Château Belá hotel are two distinct companies, the winery is located in a castle building and complementing its splendour. The reason is that the castle comprises also extensive cellars, owned by the Ullmann family during the First Republic period. The Winery oenologist Miroslav Petrech is constantly very busy, so it's almost impossible to meet him having a rest. The grapes and the wine have been part of his life for the past forty years and the company Rivel Mužla (where he is a part-owner) owns around eighty hectares of vineyards around Belá. To produce the best Riesling he uses the best clones of this prime German variety. Treat yourself to a bottle of this wine and enjoy the delight bestowed upon this wine by Château Belá fans from Tokyo through Paris to New York.

BOTT FRIGYES

Village: Mužla/Nová Stráž

Today there are very few Slovak winemakers, who are successful and sought after also abroad. One of them is also a small producer from Mužla and an exceptional man Bott Frigyes. Frigyes together with his wife Susan love tradition and good wine. Therefore more than ten years ago they decided to establish their own winery in their own family house and to produce all wines maturing in their own casks and from their own vineyards. They produce traditional varieties, grown in the south of Slovakia for more than 100 years. The uniqueness of Bott Frigyes's wines makes them much appreciated offering by Michelin restaurants in Budapest, where they have a firm place on wine cards.

STREKOV 1075

Village: Strekov

This winery was founded in 2001 and after several years of effort this small cellar is introducing new trends in traditional wine-making and wine-growing methods. They were the first in Slovakia who started to make wine using the Sur lie method. Today this winery produces the best Alibernet in Slovakia. The company is based in a small village of Strekov, known mainly for its location and its grapes, which are purchased even by the biggest winemaking names in Slovakia. The winery is managed by a charismatic winemaker Zsolt Suto.

DOMIN & KUŠICKÝ

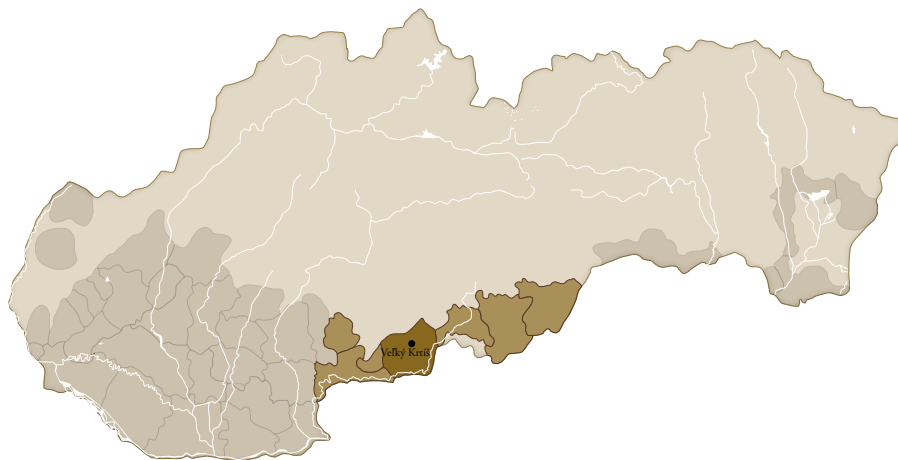

NATURAL ALIMENTÁRIA

Village: Velký Krtíš

Would you like to try something different? Something close to the nature? Well, then don't hesitate and transfer yourself to the world of wine Domin & Kušický, who are known in Slovakia for being the first to be awarded the organic wine certificate.

This small family winery from Velký Krtíš advocates the traditional wine growing and winemaking approach. As the most important factor they determined the organic wine growing, which is more demanding but the end result is in a class of its own. They planted traditional varieties and focused on the best vineyards around. These wines are an ideal partner for the hospitality industry and therefore they must not be missing in our offering.

MARVLA TINDO

Village: Levice/Tekov

A small winery producing around 9,000 litres annually was established in 2009 and focusing on production of quality wines with Prädikat and character. Main grape varieties grown are the traditional Welsh Riesling, Fetasca Regala or Pinot Noir. The winery's philosophy is to maximise the potential of grapes harvested in the vineyards around Tekov. Let the nature and the time speak, since to be a witness of the process is much more than to be the imaginary director.

MRVA & STANKO

Village: Trnava

The company VÍNO MRVA & STANKO was founded in 1997 with initial goal of making high quality wines from the best winegrowing areas across Slovakia. The winery is the brainchild of two friends – respected oenologist Vladimír Mrva and creative marketing manager Peter Stanko. Combination of these two particular constants produced probably the most successful winery in the history of modern Slovakia. For many year now they've been producing wines originating from the best locations in our country. Today they operate one of the most modern cellars in Central Europe and became owners of traditional vineyards with great history.

PAVELKA & SYN

Village: Pezinok

When in 1995 they started their business on six hectares of vineyards their focus was on quality and as a result of almost non-existent offering of quality Slovak wines at the time the company quite rapidly managed to build a name for itself. Currently they cultivate around 35 hectares, with more than half owned by the winemaker and employing 17 people. The casks are stored in rented premises of the parish cellars in the centre of Pezinok. Pavelka's claim to fame is to be the first in Slovakia to produce a red cuvée, maturing in oak casks, which to this day carries the name Paves.
